American Central Transport is lowering administrative and driver recruiting costs with Driver iQ background screening services.

"With Driver iQ, we can process applicants faster and more accurately with less staff, saving us over $30,000 annually. By efficiently identifying candidates who meet our high standards, we have been able to increase our average class size by an additional two to three drivers per week, which means in many cases we're no longer spending approximately $2,700 to onboard a driver. These savings are all compounded by the fact that our fleet has grown by over 40 trucks in six months. In the end, with Driver iQ, we can put more drivers in our trucks faster so we can haul more freight, which ultimately raises revenue and boosts profitability."

"With Driver iQ we're getting accurate information more quickly and have a much better level of responsiveness than we had with a previous provider. In the rare event we have an issue with Driver iQ, we receive an answer in 15 to 20 minutes. Our previous provider often dropped our requests and was slow to respond, causing us to spend unnecessary resources on unqualified candidates. Driver iQ goes above and beyond in service to its clients."
